HOLIDAY NOTES NOTEBOOK

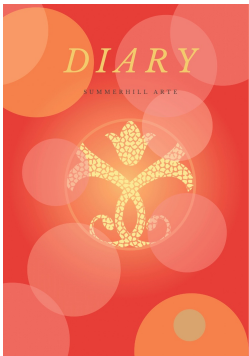

The creation of this Holiday Notebook was influenced by the atmosphere in the film Les Vacances de Monsieur Hulot by Jaques Tati 1953. The holiday mood that lingers from this film: – Fragrant wide brimmed hats. . Panamas, berets . . commune with nostalgic vibraphone along a sea-breezy promenade. The streets are calm, the day is free, and soft waves lap the fine sands in the distance.

Over the back of a wooden chair under sky lights of a beach-side lobby: notebook is tucked in tawny satchel ready to head out for the first day's explorations.

In this notebook: plan a trip, map out an itinerary, expand a vision, explore a dream, book a flight, keep a holiday.

PERCEPTIONS OF THE WORD DIARY

From Cat Summerhill: Some people think of the word Diary as referring solely to a structured, dated book in which to write appointments—and it is this— but the word is flexible. . When I was a teenager, I always kept a Diary and that was where I wrote my personal and private notes to myself about my life. The word Diary holds a certain atmosphere as keeper of the pages of our more personal and intimate thoughts. The Diarist muses and writes upon their most personal feelings and experiences of their individual life. Expressing in writing helps us sort out the chaos of our minds, and make clear the dreams of our hearts. Famous Diarists include: Anais Nin; Anne Frank and Henry David Thoreau – among others.

best. The word Diary is the Keeper of this book; and Diary, holds a certain aura that kindles the imagination: the imagination that leads us to our dreams, acquisitions, and our letting-go. Great ideas come to light on the pages of diaries and the word itself holds the word for Day. . how we all spend the days of our precious lives.

diarist's activities and reflections. Written primarily for the writer's use alone, the diary has a frankness that is unlike writing done for publication. Its ancient lineage is indicated by the existence of the term in Latin: Diarium, itself derived from Dies (day)"

From Ralph Waldo Emerson: "Write it on your heart that every day is the best day in the year. He is rich who owns the day, and no one owns the day who allows it to be invaded with fret and anxiety. Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities, no doubt crept in. Forget them as soon as you can, tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely, with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense."

On a visual note, with regard to naming a blank-lined notebook 'Diary' (Casa California) I felt that the literal shape and presence of the letters D I A R Y commanded the spirit of this book's design

From Encyclopaedia Britannica: "Diary: form of autobiographical writing, a regularly kept record of the
